

It would be absolutely ridiculous if you fine ABC for the Desperate Housewives intro into Monday Night Football. Throughout the broadcast of the game, young viewers are subjected to Erectile Dysfunction commercials, the "Twins" beer commercials, and scantily clad cheerleaders. To pick on ABC for this would entail stopping all of these offensive commercials, etc. I'd much rather my child see the SUGGESTION of Nicolette Sheridan nude rather than explain to him/her what "Erectile Dysfunction" is.
